ABOUT ME

In February 2019 I started to set up a woodworking blog where I can share the passion about my woodworking projects. The target group of my website covers private woodworkers who want to build high quality woodworking projects without the use of professional stationary carpentry machines. The DIY woodworking space offers a lot of opportunities regarding commercial advertising. Below you can find some references of the timbertime blog.

BLOG STATISTICS - PINTEREST IMPRESSIONS

I always try to use simple and popular woodworking tools when I realize my projects. Therefore I sometimes have to rely on creative solutions in order to avoid the usage of expensive, professional and stationary woodworking machines. This is what my target group is appreciating.

"A strong, positive self-image is the best possible preparation for success."
